GrowthBridge Consulting and Luxe by Madiha
Project: Six-Month Social Media Reach and Digital Marketing Improvement Project

> Simulation notice: These conversations are illustrative scripts written for academic purposes. Names, roles and dialogue are fictional. They show how the consulting team communicates with the client and the client's team, and how they communicate with us.

1. Stakeholders Involved

Stakeholder	Organization	Role in the project	Main interest
Ms. Madiha	Luxe by Madiha	Business Owner; approves strategy and budget	Visible brand growth, honest advice, brand tone
Nimra Siddiqui	Luxe by Madiha	Social Media Coordinator; publishes content, replies to comments and messages	Clear tasks, manageable workload
Bilal Hussain	Luxe by Madiha	Product and Sales Contact; product information, prices, stock, customer inquiries	Accurate product details, useful inquiries
Sara Ahmed	GrowthBridge	Project Lead	Delivery, relationship, reporting
Hamza Raza	GrowthBridge	Digital Marketing Strategist	Audit, analytics, strategy
Zoya Malik	GrowthBridge	Content and AI Specialist	Drafts, content bank, human review

All names are simulated.

2. How We Communicate: Simple Principles

With whom	How GrowthBridge communicates	How the client team communicates with us
Business Owner	Meetings, email for formal items, short WhatsApp updates; decisions confirmed in writing	Feedback and approvals by email; quick questions by WhatsApp
Social Media Coordinator	WhatsApp group, shared folder, short weekly check-ins	Questions about posting, data and replies through the content group
Product and Sales Contact	Short calls and WhatsApp for product facts	Confirms prices, stock and delivery details before content is posted

Common rules: use polite and simple language, confirm what was agreed, and follow up in writing.

3. Conversation 1: Owner and Project Lead (Expectations)

Setting: Client office, early in the project (simulated).

Sara: Thank you for your time, Ms. Madiha. Before we start the audit, I would like to confirm what you want from this project.
Ms. Madiha: I want more people to see our videos and send genuine inquiries. I also do not want the brand to look cheap or exaggerated.
Sara: Understood. We will keep the tone elegant and avoid exaggerated claims. May I also be honest about results? We can improve the process and measure it, but we cannot promise a specific number of views.
Ms. Madiha: I appreciate that. Other agencies promised a lot. What will you actually do?
Sara: First, we will measure where you are now. Then we will plan content with you, test it, and report every month. You approve the strategy and the product claims.
Ms. Madiha: Good. How much of my time do you need?
Sara: One meeting a month, and feedback within three working days when we send drafts.
Ms. Madiha: That is acceptable.
Sara: Thank you. I will confirm this by email today.

4. Conversation 2: Strategist and Social Media Coordinator (Data and Workflow)

Setting: Video call, Month 1 (simulated).

Hamza: Nimra, thank you for joining. I need to understand how you post and where the data is.
Nimra: I post when we have new stock, usually in the evening. I can see insights on Facebook and TikTok, but I do not always check them.
Hamza: That is very helpful. Could you share screenshots of the insights for the last 90 days?
Nimra: I can. TikTok only shows some of the older data.
Hamza: That is fine. We will use what is available and note the limits. Who replies to customer messages?
Nimra: Mostly me, but sometimes Bilal answers product questions.
Hamza: Thank you. Later we may suggest reply templates. For now, please keep a note of the questions customers ask most often.
Nimra: Okay. I will start a list.
Hamza: Thank you. I will send a short checklist on WhatsApp.

5. Conversation 3: Content Specialist and Product and Sales Contact (Accuracy of Product Information)

Setting: Phone call, Month 3 (simulated).

Zoya: Hello Bilal. I am preparing captions for the new collection, and I want the product details to be correct. Can you confirm the fabric and price range?
Bilal: The fabric is cotton blend. The price starts from [price]. It depends on size and embroidery.
Zoya: Thank you. Should the caption say "starting from"?
Bilal: Yes, otherwise customers will think every item has the same price.
Zoya: Understood. Also, are all sizes in stock?
Bilal: Not yet. Please do not mention "all sizes available."
Zoya: I will remove that. I will send the final caption for your check before it goes to Ms. Madiha for approval.
Bilal: Good.

6. Conversation 4: Strategist, Coordinator and Sales Contact (Customer Inquiries)

Setting: Short meeting, Month 3 (simulated).

Hamza: We want to track which inquiries come from social media and which are real purchase inquiries. Can we start a simple log?
Nimra: What should we write?
Hamza: Date, platform, topic and outcome. For example: "TikTok, price question, answered, sale not completed."
Bilal: I can mark which inquiries become orders.
Hamza: Perfect. Please do not write customer names or phone numbers in the log.
Nimra: Okay. Should I use the reply templates Zoya is preparing?
Hamza: Yes, but please read and adjust them before sending, so that they match the customer's question.
Bilal: That will save time.

7. Conversation 5: Coordinator Contacts the Consultant (Client-Initiated Problem)

Setting: Phone call from the client's team (simulated).

Nimra: Zoya, I have a problem. The video is not ready and the post is planned for tomorrow.
Zoya: Thank you for telling me early. Do you have a ready photo set or a customer-question post?

Zoya: Please use that tomorrow and move the video to Thursday. I will send a caption for the styling post now.
Nimra: Thank you. Should I tell Ms. Madiha?
Zoya: Yes, please. I will also note the change in the calendar.

8. Conversation 6: Owner and Project Lead (Concern about Slow Progress)

Setting: Phone call before the mid-project review (simulated).

Ms. Madiha: Sara, I am a little worried. The results look slow.
Sara: Thank you for saying that directly. Could you tell me what you were expecting?
Ms. Madiha: I thought we would see bigger changes by now.
Sara: I understand. Three months into a content test is still early, and platform results can vary. In the mid-project review we will show what is working and what we should change. We cannot promise faster results, but we can adjust the plan using the data.
Ms. Madiha: Okay. Please show me clearly what you will change.
Sara: I will. The report will list changes to formats, posting times and content pillars, and we will agree on them with you.
Ms. Madiha: Thank you.

9. Conversation 7: Owner and Project Lead (Closing and Next Steps)

Setting: Final meeting (simulated).

Sara: Thank you for your cooperation, Ms. Madiha. The handover pack has the final report, templates, guidelines and recommendations.
Ms. Madiha: What should we do first after the project ends?
Sara: Keep using the content calendar, review your insights each month, and keep the inquiry log. The reply templates should always be checked before use.
Ms. Madiha: And if we need help later?
Sara: That would be a separate agreement. You are welcome to decide after you have used the handover pack for a few weeks.
Ms. Madiha: Thank you. It was a professional experience.
Sara: Thank you. We wish Luxe by Madiha success.

10. Observations: What Makes These Conversations Professional

- Each speaker is polite, direct and specific.
- GrowthBridge confirms agreements in writing after a conversation.
- The client's concerns are asked about and answered honestly, without promises.
